"McGraw he sees,"
Some sights that please."

What McGraw saw in the sixth was singles by Lauder and Gilbert, a three-bagger by Warner and a first-base out, all of which meant three runs. In the seventh, singles by Breshahan, Lauder and Gilbert and Babb's being hit by a pitched ball scored three more runs, and Hanlon bit harder than ever into his chewing gum.

The first two men up for Brooklyn in the eighth inning reached first base. Dahlen was hit by a pitched ball and Flood singled. Gilbert made a good stop of Flood's hit, but McGann was asleep at the switch. When he got over to first in time to take Gilbert's assist Flood was there. Then came two files, another hit and another fly.

After Sheckard had popped up the eighteenth fly in the ninth inning Householder and Dovle singled. Dahlen scored them with a three bagger to left. There was a pause at this juncture while Dr. Flood removed something from the umpire's eye. The operation being finished, Flood struck out, McManus followed suit and the cheerless Brooklyns faded away to the clubhouse.

GREATER NEW YORKS BEATEN. Begin Their American League Career

by Lesing to the Washingtons.

Although a couple of games were played last Monday in the American League, the real opening was not until yesterday, when all eight teams played. In the cities where the weather was not too cold and disagreeable, the attendances were very large and everything points to another fine race and prosperous season by this most successful of leagues. It would not be fair to compare the attendances of yesterday with those of the National League opening, as the latter had much better weather. As it was, the crowds yesterday, under the circumstances, showed that the American League is as well thought of as ever by the baseball public, if not more so. The opening was not a joyous one for the Greater New Yorks. They were beaten in a close game by the Washingtons. The other winners were the Chicago, Detroits and Philadelphias, and their respective victims were St. Louis, Cleveland and Boston. There was no evidence of the foul strike rule bothering the batsmen. The results:

GRAND OPERA'S TRACK RECORD COVERS SIX FURLONGS IN THE

HANDICAP IN 1:13 2-5. Also Defeats the California Sprinter, Yellow Tall, in a Drive—Agnee Bren-nan's Ozone Stakes—Julia M. Beats

Although the weather was threatening and a cold wind blew up from Jamaica Bay, there was no falling off in the attendance at Aqueduct yesterday afternoon, probably 8,500 racing patrons turning out. The card was above the usual standard in point of excellence, and three favorites and a second choice enabled the players to go home with more money than they took down. The most interest centred in the running of the handicap at six furlongs, which opened the card. The talent figured it down to a duel between "Pittsburg Phil's" Grand Opera and John Hackett's Yellow Tail, with Flying Buttress having a look in. Demurrer and Futurita were withdrawn, leaving six to go. Grand Opera was heavily backed by his owner, whose commissioners got the money down at the last moment and forced the price down from twos to 8 to 5. Yellow Tail closed a strong second choice at 12 to 5, with Flying Buttress going up to sevens. Because Redfern had the mount, New York II. was also fancied at tens.

WASHINOTON, April 22.—F. C. Ainsworth and the other stockholders and trustees of the Washington Jockey Club filed in the office of the Recorder of Deeds of the District of Columbia to-day a deed in favor of August Belmont to the property known as the Bennings racetrack. The consideration named in the deed is $5. Henrietta M. Brightwell filed a deed in favor of 8. 8. Howland of the Washington Jockey Club to about 100 acres of land adjoining the present racecourse at Bennings. The price named is $32,125, it is presumed that this land is to be used for enlarging the grounds included in the Bennings property.

AQUEDUCT RACING GOSSIP. | RACING PROSPERITY IN 1902. "Pittsburg Phil" Cleans Up $10,000 on

"Pittsburg Phil" was in evidence again at Aqueduct yesterday. Somebody saked the plunger early in the day if Grand Opera would win the first race, and the reply is reported to have been that "Phil" did not believe the colt could win. Some of the big bookmakers in their opening quotations made Yellow Tail the favorite and Grand Opera second choice at 2% to 1, but the figures were quickly Seymour-Three Favorites in Front. choice at 2½ to 1, but the figures were quickly reversed just before the horses went to the post as "Phil's" commissioners hurried down the line, taking any price against Grand Opera. "Pittsburg" placed most of his winnings on Lord Turco, place and show, in the fifth race, as the colt belongs to his brother, Bill Smith. A conservative estimate of the plunger's winnings on the day places the amount at $10,000.

At Lakeside.

Chicago, April 22.—Omdurman, Lingo and Chop Suoy finished three noses on the post in the fourth race at Lakeside this afternoon in far the most sensational finish seen at the meeting. Not until the numbers were hung out could it be told which of the three had won the verdict. Omdurman was heavily played by the big players as he was loudly touted as having once again recovered his good form which he displayed as a three-year-old. A tilling was made on Maggie Leeber in the first race. The filly was backed from 50 to 1 down to 20, and won with ridiculous case.

STATE COMMISSION PRESENTS ITS ANNUAL REPORT.

Tax for Benefit of Agricultural Societies, 8170,083.88, Par Larger Than Ever

Club is Commended—Money Won.

ALRANY. April 22.—August Belmont. E. D. Morgan and John Sanford, constituting the State Racing Commission, presented their annual report to-day. After referring to the unexampled prosperty attending the sport in this State in 1902, the report commends generously to other country clubs the example of the Meadow Brook Club in having a one-day exclusively sporting meet, on the ground that such meets tend to foster and encourage the best interests of racing and to introduce it appropriately in districts where race meetings of extended length are impracticable.

As evidence that racing last year enjoyed a public patronage which was unprecedented the fact is cited that the state tax for the bonefit of, the agricultural societies, amounting to $170,085.88, is a sum by far larger than ever before received.

The report continues:

As compared with 1901, which, up to that time, was the largest in revenue-producing power and, therefore, showed that the sport was advancing in public favor, the following is illustrative of the rapid strides made since then:

SULLIVAN'S FOUL FIGHTING.

Wins the stout.

PORT CHESTER, N. Y., April 22.—John Sullivan and William Joyce, two Port Chester boys, fought a six-round bout at 115 pounds in Purdy's pionic grove, near this place, last night. The mill took place in the woods, under a big are light, and was witnessed by about 100 persons. In the third round somebody cried "Police!" and there was a wild acrambie to get away. The alarm proved to be false, and the scrappers and spectators again gathered for the fray.

Joyce had been bragging for some time that he could put Sullivan to sleep in six rounds. Sullivan stayed the limit and won the purse of $200. Sullivan fought victously. In one or two rounds when time was called he came up to the centre with a mouthful of water, which he squirted into his opponent's eyes, thus for a time blinding the latter and putting him at a disadvantage.

ITHACA. April 22—Cornell lost her first lacrosse game of the season to-day to Hobert, the score being 2 to 1. All the scoring was done in the second half. Maddigan and Doup did the goal throwing for the visitors.
